

Branding

---

Who are you?

Distinguish between your logo and your brand.

Your logo is your image and how that captures your organization.

Your brand is your strategy, your brand is your story. It's about who you are and what you want to be known for. Also, your brand gives more information to your audience about the culture of your organization.